Yesterday's provincial news conference

In her daily news conference yesterday, the Chief Medical Officer of Health indicated that continuing care and supportive living centres should be cautious with visitation given the increasing number of positive COVID-19 cases in the province. Please think carefully before visiting your loved one in person. Ensure that you are symptom-free and have followed all public health protocols related to hand hygiene, masking, physical distancing, and limited interactions outside your immediate household in the fourteen days prior to visiting to minimize risk of transmission. Let us work together to keep everyone safe.

Thank you for keeping Wing Kei in your prayers.

his faithfulness continues through all generations.
